

Dear FCC and associates, Leave our satellite radio options alone. XM satellite provides a fantastic product unavailable until now. It provides freedom of choice for radio options that the local stations have decided to ignore and supply to the consumer. I also travel on the road and with my XM radio, I know exactly where to tune in for weather and travel conditions that are not easy to find in the myriad of local stations. I can also listen to the XM radio for future travel conditions before I get there. XM is a fantastic product where all of the things I am looking for can be found. Leave their service alone. Leave their service unregulated. Your intrusion is unneeded and unwanted by voters. Doesn't the FCC have enough to do than cave to the voice of lobbyists. If the FCC manages to manipulate XM radio in one aspect, I will turn my voting powers to the democrats and aim for a new voice in the FCC administration. Jeff Suter
